

2004 ICOMOS CANADA ANNUAL CONGRESS AND GENERAL ASSEMBLY

My City, My Heritage, My Future: Conserving the Heritage of Canadian Cities in the 21st Century

Ottawa, 21-23 October, 2004

Cities play an unparalleled role in the conservation of civic heritage. At this year's annual congress, ICOMOS Canada will explore the conference theme and will discuss the new realities of conserving the heritage of cities at the beginning of the 21st Century, including the practical aspects.

Subthemes include:

My City: Current and New Heritage Issues and Opportunities

(20th century heritage; archaeology; energy/environment/transport issues; growth, demographic changes; changing cultural diversity; industrial/economic changes; public security, etc.)

My City: Experiencing the Benefits of Heritage Conservation

(City profile, quality of life, identity/attractiveness of city and neighbourhoods, culture, tourism, conference/event venue; economic benefits; cost recovery; environmental sustainability; knowledge sharing; district stabilization; etc.)

My City: Creative Heritage Conservation Management

(New heritage policies; integrating heritage into planning; interjurisdictional territorial and greenbelt management; civic heritage conservation; new programs, grants and incentives; partnering, etc.)

My City: New Tools to promote and support Heritage

(WWW based tools – Canadian Register of Historic Places, Canadian Standards and Guidelines; databanks; Tourism/technical/research web sites, media; virtual tours, creative education, public consultation approaches, etc.)

Conference program:

The conference program and Call for Papers will be posted on the ICOMOS Canada website: <http://canada.icomos.org>
