Historic Rehab Tax Credits - How to:

Last year, historic rehabilitation tax credits spurred a record-setting $3.2 billion investment in preserving communities. Developers and owners who successfully leveraged the credits to help finance increasingly complex projects will share their insights at a national conference in Miami Beach, FL, October 16-17. The tax credit program is administered by the National Park Service in partnership with State Historic Preservation Officers and the Internal Revenue Service.

More information about the conference is online <http://www.cr.nps.gov/hps/tps> by e-mail toclaire_kelly@contractor.nps.gov or by calling (202) 354-2040.

TRAINING - US NPS Heritage News Oct issue

NAGPRA Training

The National Park Service's National NAGPRA program will offer two training sessions in Albuquerque, NM, for representatives of tribes, museums, Federal agencies, and interested members of the public. A half-day grant-writing workshop will be held November 19 and a full-day NAGPRA.

Seminar on November 20. <http://www.cr.nps.gov/nagpra/TRAINING>

INFORMATION AND CALL FOR PAPERS OF THE DIALOGUE "TOURISM, CULTURAL DIVERSITY AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT". UNIVERSAL FORUM OF CULTURES, BARCELONA 2004

In the frame of the Universal Forum of Cultures Barcelona 2004, the International Dialogue "Tourism, Cultural Diversity and Sustainable Development" will be celebrated. The Forum which will take place in Barcelona (Spain) from May 9th to September 26th 2004, is a world-wide event based on the promotion of the cultures and the arts, designed to improve the living together through the intercultural dialogue and the celebration in general.

The Institute of Responsible Tourism (ITR), an international organisation associated to UNESCO, acts as the Technical Cultural Diversity and Sustainable Development", which is to be celebrated from 14th to 16th July 2004.

The Dialogue will be a meeting-point for more than 1,500 leading stakeholders and people interested in the tourist activities, becoming a space dedicated to open debate and free discussion. The main topic areas will revolve around TOURISM and CULTURAL AND NATURAL HERITAGE, Responsible Tourism from the perspective of the TOURIST INDUSTRY and the SUSTAINABLE TOURIST DESTINATIONS. Likewise, other topics will be treated linked to EDUCATION, TRAINING, INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION, NEW TECHNOLOGIES and ETHICS as aspects of a Responsible and Sustainable Tourism, essential to achieve a world in PEACE.

For these reasons the Dialogue is addressed to:

- International organisations
- Professionals of the tourist industry, culture and environment
- Public Administrations of tourism, culture, environment and sustainability.
- Experts, scientists, students and academic world in general.
- Related NGO's.
- Auxiliary Industry and suppliers of technology, equipment, etc.
- Civil Society and Public interested in the topics.

The dynamics of the Dialogue will assume participation and discussion as a prior objective, programming a formal part, which includes presentations and round tables, and a more participative and dynamic section in which meetings, debates, and Groups of Work on specific topics will be carried out, as well as the possibility of presenting COMMUNICATIONS and EXPERIENCES. Another characteristic to be emphasized is the fact that there will be a stand where one will have the chance to present initiatives, products or services related to the topics of the Dialogue.

For PREINSCRIPTION in the Dialogue go to Forum websites:

\(Spanish\) - \(English\)

To present COMMUNICATIONS and EXPERIENCES please send a 350 word summary in English or Spanish, in which the object and the conclusions of the communication are explained. Please send it as soon as possible.

A pre-selection will follow according to a series of pre-established criteria.

Then, we will contact the author to ask him/her for the complete presentation to carry out the final selection. If you wish to receive further information, or make any suggestions, do not hesitate to get in touch with the Technical Secretariat of the Dialogue, of which the Institute of Responsible Tourism is in charge, via the following e-mail: itr@biospherehotels.org

We will keep you informed about the development and preparation of the Dialogue as well as about the different International Seminars/ Workshops and preparatory acts on the different topics of the Dialogue, that will take place up to the celebration of the Dialogue on July, 2004. (If you do not wish to receive such information, please, let us know)

Kind Regards,
